

CONSTRUCTION CRC IN INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE

The Cooperative Research Centre for Construction Innovation (CRC CI) has become a founding member of an international organisation, the International Construction Research Alliance (ICALL) formed recently with the aim of creating world best practice in international construction and property management.

ICALL will develop, initiate and benchmark joint research projects in the fields of business and industry development, sustainable built assets, and delivery and management of built assets;

Other members of ICALL include the Centre for Integrated Facilitated Engineering (CIFE), Stanford University, USA; Centre Scientifique et Technique du Bâtiment (CSTB), France; VTT Building and Transport, Finland; and Centre for Facilities Management (CFM), Research Institute for the Built and Human Environment, University of Salford, UK.

CRC CI will host the first ICALL conference scheduled for 2004, highlighting the role clients can play in driving innovation in the property and construction industry.
