

INNOVATORS WANTED

The CRC for Construction Innovation invites industry researchers and practitioners to present at a major international conference on innovation in the building, infrastructure and facilities management industries.

The third in a highly successful series which attracts hundreds of delegates from Australia and overseas, the Clients Driving Innovation: Benefiting from Innovation conference will be held 12-14 March 2008 on Australia's Gold Coast. Leading industry practitioners and researchers are invited to participate in the program and showcase the results of their research and innovation, with a focus on implementation of innovative practices and technologies.

The Clients Driving Innovation conference series attracts a varied audience of industry representatives and researchers, including construction clients, designers, constructors, civil and infrastructure engineers and contractors, facility managers, facility owners, financiers, property developers, engineering consultants, manufacturers, technology specialists, cost management consultants, construction industry regulators, research and development educators and specialists and industry consultative organisations.

For more information log onto www.2008conference.crcci.info