

Australia's national web portal specialising in sustainable commercial buildings is now online.

Your Building has the equivalent to more than 1000 A4 pages of content written by leading researchers and industry specialists, case studies of some of Australia's leading sustainable commercial buildings, and links to detailed information on other websites.

Visit www.yourbuilding.org to find the short – and long – answers to all your questions about sustainable commercial buildings.

- How can you profit from a sustainable commercial building?
- How much does it cost to achieve a five star rating?
- Will a sustainable fitout really improve productivity?
- Which rating tool should I use when?

Your Building answers these and many more questions for owners, builders, developers, designers and facility managers.

Become a registered user and you will be able to comment on and rate the articles, submit your own articles, images and case studies, tag items of interest, and select RSS feeds to keep you up-to-date with the latest postings.

Your Building is a collaborative project of

Australian Government
Department of the Environment and Water Resources

Your Building is sponsored by creatingbetterliving

